Tennessee Valley's First Diversity Leadership Colloquium Well Underway

The first cohort of the Diversity Leadership Colloquium (DLC) assembled on January 13, 2015, at Sirote and Permutt, P.C., hosted by Atty. Julian Butler. Butler and Rev. Earla Lockhart served as inaugural speakers on the topic of “Servant Leadership.”

DLC provides diversity training for aspiring and experienced leaders. It achieves its objectives through C.A.R.E.--Collaboration for Excellence; Appreciation with Insight; Respect for Understanding; and Empathy for all.

DLC provides leaders opportunities to benefit from qualified and seasoned trainers, scholars, and business professionals who share and discuss research and best practices regarding obtaining excellence through diversity.

It is designed for individuals interested in gaining access to networks, mentors, and sponsors that have traditionally not been available to diverse members of the broader community.

All cohorts will be exposed to topics such as: Servant Leadership; Politics and Government; K-12 and Higher Education; Small Business and Entrepreneurship; Religion, Community and Civic Engagement; Law, Equality and Social Justice; Finance, Investments and Planning and Networking and Mentoring.

The members of Cohort 1 include the following:

The Church of the Nativity was the site of a Poverty Simulation program.

“Life’s most persistent and urgent question is, ‘What are you doing for others?’”

Last week was an eventful time. There was the celebration of the unity of a couple through holy matrimony in the likes of a colleague--Anthony Lancaster--and his lovely bride, Tiffany Bradley. Here's wishing them a lifetime of marital bliss. There also was a phenomenal opportunity to participate in the Poverty Simulation on January 16 at the Church of the Nativity. Did you know that Alabama is the seventh poorest state in the nation, with some 900,000 Alabamians living in poverty?

Thanks to David Nast, Huntsville residents had a chance to participate in the Community Action Poverty Simulation, an interactive experience that helps bring about understanding of the hardships confronted by person living at or below the poverty level. Although I was raised in a poor situation, the simulation heightened my awareness of the constant challenges and the emotional toll impoverished members of our society experience.

The Poverty Simulation was designed to assist business and community leaders; students, faculty, and administrators; faith-based organizations, nonprofit organizations, and others understand the realities of poverty. During the simulation, participants role-played the lives of families living at or below the poverty level. Participants also experienced typical challenges faced by individuals living in the context of constrained financial circumstances including maintaining employment, caring for children or elderly family members, seeking public assistance, and dealing with transportation issues.

Also last week, we observed one of the poor's fiercest advocates. We celebrated the life and legacy of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., locally, around the state and nation. Congratulations to the men of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity for the first Martin Luther King Day Parade in downtown Huntsville. The weather was great; thus, a double portion of grace on an early January morning.

UAH's MLK Commemorative Luncheon featured Dr. Regina Benjamin, the first African-American woman and 18th Surgeon General of the United States. She was extraordinarily awesome. The Interdenominational Ministerial Fellowship's attendees, hosted by Progressive Union MB Church, were enthralled by the great pastor/teacher Rev. Dr. Otis Moss.

In addition, the Harrison Senior Center's MLK Breakfast had a standing-room-only crowd, with Pastor Patrick Clayborn of St. John AME Church. On Monday, the men of Alpha hosted their 30th Annual Martin Luther King, Jr. Unity Breakfast at the Von Braun Center in Downtown Huntsville with a capacity crowd in the North Hall.

Now that all of the activities are over, what is our response to one of King's many famous quotes? He once said, "Life's most persistent and urgent question is, 'What are you doing for others?'" You decide.

Until next week ...

About Concordia International University - Part 1

by Charles Mercieca, Ph.D.
Global President

In the early part of the 21st century, education at all levels took a gigantic step forward in the right direction. After a few decades of preparation, leading educators in South Korea put successfully into operation Concordia International University with branches in quite a few countries. Special attention is made on the young since they will inevitably become the eventual leaders of future governments.

Volunteered Services

Professional instructors began to volunteer their services at a faster rate than anticipated. In the meantime, students at all ages, who felt a sacrosanct obligation to create a better and more peaceful world began to join this international institution. Needless to say, the positive and constructive changes they wanted to make on a global scale are now bound to take place in quite a few years.

The problem with our traditional colleges and universities lies here. The education they provide is meant primarily to procure students with jobs after they graduate. Very little is being done to replace struggles and wars with harmony and peace. They seem to forget, as Pope Pius XII said in 1939 on the eve of World War II that "in a war everyone is a loser, no one a winner."

Ironically, in periodical statistical studies made in the vast majority of countries, all people want to live permanently in peace. They do not want to experience war in their lives by all means. Those that tend to seek for the waging of wars are generally those in the government, along with mentally blind groups who believe they can control their nation and the world at large through violence.

We need here to bring to our attention the preamble of UNESCO, which stands for United Nations, Education, Scientific and Cultural Organization. It states clearly: "Since wars begin in the minds of men it is in the minds of men that the defenses of peace must be constructed." The only way to achieve this properly and effectively is through a good and sound education.

Harmonious and Peaceful Philosophy

Fortunately, there have already been several groups in many institutions of learning that tried seriously to implement UNES-

CO's harmonious and peaceful philosophy. The time has arrived when we need to make sure that colleges and universities reevaluate their purpose in relation to the universal welfare of the entire human race.

This explains why Concordia International University came into operation. Since both its faculty members and students want to bring a permanent peace, they associated themselves with a good peace agency to implement its objectives: International Association of Educators for World Peace (IAEWP).

Its goals are: (1) Promotion of international understanding and world peace through education, (2) Protection of the environment from air and water pollution, (3) Safeguard of human rights, and (4) Disarmament while using human resources for positive purposes. If these four objectives are properly implemented in countries around the world, within a matter of two to three generations, world peace will become a tangible reality for many nations to cherish.

Welcome Back, Dr. Clarence Major Glenn, DVM!

On November 2, 2012, Dr. Clarence Major Glenn had an emergency open heart surgery that lasted for nearly 12 hours. Then he laid in an induced comma for three months. He lost his gall bladder. Then he was put on a dialysis machine.

For months, he was at death's door. He had so many complications, setbacks, pain, disappointments and despair that you could sum it all up by saying, "He has had a Job experience".

He nearly lost everything. For over two years his practice was shut down. He was doomed for failure, but his faith, determination, and God's grace has made him whole again. He is no longer on a dialysis machine. He was determined to practice again, against all odds, and God has answered his prayers.

I am proud to announce his veterinarian practice is open for business. Come and bring your pets to the "best vet" in Huntsville, Ala. He is still located at 2933 Jordan Lane.

Call for an appointment at (256) 837-3910. Come and welcome him back. Go to see a living miracle ... the man, who has given 37 years to the community taking care of yours and my pets over the years.

God loves you...and so do I.

Flu and Cold Weather Trigger Blood Emergency

While the holidays typically bring a slowdown to blood donations, this winter's flu epidemic and the cold weather in the southeast cut even deeper into the blood supply. LifeSouth Community Blood Centers is now in emergency need for blood.

"This is coming at a time when supplies were already low because of reduced donations during the winter holidays," said LifeSouth Vice President of Operations J.B. Bowles. "Meanwhile, blood usage at many of our hospitals is far above normal, making the shortage even more serious."

Donations are down 40% from where the supply needs to be to provide hospitals with enough blood for patients. This has especially impacted the supply of Type O blood which is needed most.

"O-negative is the universal blood type that can be used by anyone in emergencies. O-positive can be used by anyone with a positive blood type," said Bowles. "We are in desperate need of healthy donors to come out and donate blood."

The Centers for Disease

Control reported in early January that 43 states, including Florida, Georgia and Alabama, are experiencing either high or widespread flu activity.

"We are in emergency need. We only use this term when inventory levels are at the very lowest," explained Bowles. "It means our hospitals have less than a two-day supply and LifeSouth does not have the blood available to resupply the hospitals when that blood is used."

"Please help. Please donate blood," Bowles said.

Donors must be 17 or older, or 16 with parental consent, weigh a minimum of 110 pounds and be in good health. A photo ID is also required. For information call 888-795-2707.

Tax Filing Season Opens for 2015

The Internal Revenue Service announced the on-time opening of the nation's 2015 filing season and highlighted a growing array of online services, including features that will help you understand how the Affordable Care Act will affect you at tax time, along with the availability of the Free File program.

The IRS Free File program, available at IRS.gov, opened Friday, January 16, 2015 and the IRS will begin accepting and processing all tax returns on Tuesday, January 20, 2015.

This year's return will include new questions to incorporate provisions of the Affordable Care Act (or ACA). The majority of us will simply need to check a box to verify we have health insurance coverage. For the minority who will have to do more, IRS.gov/aca features useful information and tips regarding the premium tax credit, the individual shared responsibility requirement and other tax features of the ACA.

We can begin preparing our returns using the Free File system on Friday, January 16, 2015. At IRS.gov, Free File offers two filing options:

- Brand-name software, offered by IRS' commercial partners to individuals and families with incomes of $60,000 or less; or

- Online fillable forms, the electronic version of IRS paper forms available at all income levels and especially useful to those comfortable with filling out their own returns.

E-file, when combined with direct deposit, is the fastest way to get a refund. Free File.

The IRS will begin accepting and processing all returns – whether e-file, Free File or paper tax returns -- on January 20, 2015.
