Here are the happenings in Washington, D.C., this week:

1. ON THE FLOOR. The House and Senate are in session this week. Among other items, the House will take up a bill to remove marijuana from the list of federally controlled substances and impose a federal tax on sales. The Senate will start the week with final votes on the "America COMPETES Act" (H.R. 4521), which seeks to increase U.S. production of semiconductor chips, strengthen the supply chain to make more goods in America, and invest in scientific research and new technologies (thereby allowing the bill to proceed to a conference with the House).

2. THE WHITE HOUSE. President Biden returned to the White House from his 4-day trip to Belgium and Poland on Sunday morning. On Monday, the President sent his Fiscal Year 2023 budget to Congress (which will be listed online here once the documents are released: <https://www.whitehouse.gov/omb/budget/>), which according to The Hill newspaper will include a 20% wealth tax on U.S. taxpayers worth more than $100 million levied on their income as well as unrealized gains in the value of their liquid assets, such as stocks and bonds. On Tuesday, he met with Singapore Prime Minister Lee Hsien Loong at the White House (in place of a canceled 2-day summit with the 10-member Association of Southeast Asian Nations that was set to take place on Monday and Tuesday at the White House). Last Thursday, while in Europe meeting with NATO leaders, the President announced $1 billion in humanitarian aid for Ukrainian refugees and pledged that the U.S. would take in up to 100,000 refugees.

On the COVID-19 front, the President is asking Congress to approve $22.5 billion in additional FY2022 COVID-19 assistance before the start of the Easter Recess on April 8, but Republicans are opposing it unless it is fully paid for by cuts to other programs or the use of unspent funds.

3. EARMARKS. The House and Senate are once again accepting proposals for earmarks, called "Community Project Funding" in the House and "Congressionally Directed Spending" in the Senate. The House has released new guidance for FY 2023 that is similar to what was provided to members last year, but it will accept 15 requests, up from 10 requests in FY 2022. The Appropriations Committee will begin taking requests from House members on April 4th through the end of the month. The Senate has not yet issued guidance for FY 2023, but Senate offices have begun accepting earmark requests based on last year's guidance.

4. SUPREME COURT. Last Wednesday, the U.S. Supreme Court threw out a ruling by the Wisconsin Supreme Court that adopted a redistricting plan submitted by Gov. Tony Evers (D) for seats in the state's legislature. The state court's plan would have increased the number of majority-Black districts in the Wisconsin State Assembly from 6 to 7, but the Supreme Court, in an unsigned decision, sided with the Republican-led legislature and ruled that the state court was mistaken in its use of race to select a voting map.

At the same time, the justices turned down a separate request from Wisconsin Republicans related to the state's voting map for congressional districts and, in a one-sentence order, the justices declined to toss out a Wisconsin Supreme Court ruling that adopted the governor's map for those districts, which will likely maintain the GOP's 5-3 congressional advantage. On Friday, the court turned aside a lawsuit by 26 Navy SEALs who sought to challenge the Administration's COVID-19 vaccine requirement for servicemembers.

5. MARCH JOBS REPORT. On Friday (April 1) at 8:30 a.m., the Department of Labor will release its monthly jobs report for March, which according to Bloomberg economist estimates is likely to rise by 490,000 jobs. Last week, U.S. jobless claims notched their lowest level since September 1969 at 187,000 filings. The U.S. economy added 687,000 jobs in February.

6. EASTER EGG ROLL. After a 2-year pandemic hiatus, the White House Easter Egg Roll will return on Monday, April 18. To get tickets, you can participate in an on-line lottery through March 31 here: <https://www.recreation.gov/ticket/facility/250029>. Tours of the White House will resume on April 15.

“REAL NEEDS”

Philippians 4:19 says, “And my God will meet all your needs according to the riches of His glory in Christ Jesus.”

You know, when God speaks of meeting needs, it is not about material needs, or the need to be prosperous. I believe that when God meets our needs, it is designed to direct us toward his good and perfect will for our lives. I also believe that God will meet our needs with a need. In other words, when I felt the need to be comforted, God met that need by providing me with someone that needed comforting. When I felt the need for prayer, God met that need by providing me with someone that I needed to pray for. And when I was standing in the need of a blessing, God met that need by providing me with someone that I could be a blessing to.

You see, God is in the business of meeting needs with needs. Everything that He does is designed to meet our needs. But so often we have the wrong expectations for having our needs met. And, perhaps it’s because our motivation is all wrong. For example, when we expect our needs to be supplied by “worldly” resources, we will always come up short, and it will rob you of your joy. But I heard someone say that “when our joy is low, entitlement is high”. And it comes from not thanking God for what we already have.

You see, God knows our “real needs,” and they come from a heart that wants to please God. They don’t come from the desires of this world. So, once we get our hearts right, that will affect our motivation for whatever needs that we want God to supply ... Stay encouraged, my brothers and sisters.

Arts Huntsville Announces Panoply 2022

Arts Huntsville invites the community to return to downtown Huntsville's Big Spring Park on April 29, 30, and May 1 to celebrate 40 years of Panoply Arts Festival.

Over four decades, Panoply Arts Festival has evolved into a premiere arts weekend showcasing Huntsville's innovative spark through a three-day celebration of art, music and more. On Thursday, March 24, Huntsville Mayor Tommy Battle joined local artists and musicians and Arts Huntsville board, volunteers and staff at the Huntsville/Madison County Convention & Visitors Bureau to announce details about the 2022 festival, presented by Mazda Toyota Manufacturing.

Panoply's 40th celebration kicks off at 5 p.m. on Friday, April 29, showcasing many local and regional musical acts, including regionally-celebrated and critically-acclaimed bands and musicians, the juried Art Marketplace, STEAM Street, art and STEAM interactives, community art projects, craft beer and wine, festival food, select local food trucks and more. This year the festival will feature a new layout spanning across Church Street and into Big Spring Park East.

Featured Music: Arts Huntsville welcomes over 30 musical performances in a variety of genres – jazz, rock, R&B, indie rock, blues, pop and more – to Panoply's two stages: the Showcase Stage, presented by Pepsi, and the Indie Stage.

Panoply's Indie Stage will be featured in a new location in Big Spring Park East and will showcase local solo and duo music performances throughout the weekend by favorites such as Delaney Faulds, Shelly Williams, Josh Allison, Jerome Villarreal, Charles and Tanya, Jimmy Henderson, Remy Neal and Cheryl Llewellyn to name just a few – full schedule available at www.artshuntsville.org.

The Pepsi Showcase Stage, located on the back of the Huntsville Museum of Art, will feature multiple bands and shows during the three-day festival. Friday night is host to a rock-packed evening starting with blues-influenced rock band Tres Locos, followed by indie rock band Jayne & the Huntsmen opening for headliner, Hero the Band, whose performance is presented by Pearl Behavioral Health Services. Hero the Band is a multifaceted group from Decatur, Georgia comprised of four brothers with a unique musical vision that blurs lines and genres. Rolling Stone says that Hero the Band's recent EP “Unicorn” is “the absolute top of its game” and “Hero the Band is ready to explode.” Arts Huntsville Events Manager Cat Turner added, “These guys are super high energy and will put on a wonderful performance to kick-off the festival.”

On Saturday, the music starts when the gates open at 10 a.m. The festival welcomes Rule of Thirds, Knightshade, Shane Davis, Grove Yard and Will River throughout the day. That evening, the stage will be filled with big sound and big horns as festival attendees can enjoy local powerhouse opening act Element XI and then catch Saturday's headliners The Suffers. The Suffers' eight-piece band, hailing from Houston, Texas, has played sold out shows in Japan and Latin America. NPR's Bob Boilen attributes the band's allure to their “Soul, straight from horn to heart.” Their contagious and combustible energy has also been featured at the Newport Folk Festival and the Afropunk Festival.

Sunday celebrates a day of Alabama Music, presented by The Orion Amphitheater. as immediately recognizable and impossible to ignore. Since first touring in his early 20s, McDonald's various bands have been featured in Rolling Stone, Billboard, Yahoo and American Songwriter.

“We are Africans not because we are born in Africa, but because Africa is born in us.”

– Chester Higgins, Jr.

“A Tale of Two (Capital) Cities”: Kyiv, Ukraine, and Washington DC

Two news stories dominated our last full week in March: Russia’s bombardment of Kyiv, Ukraine’s capital, and the Republicans’ attempted bombardment of Supreme Court nominee Ketanji Brown Jackson in Washington DC, our nation’s capital.

Based upon the historic resolve of those two intended targets, History will show that neither set of bombardments will succeed.

Vladimir Putin is attempting to return Russia to its former Soviet Union territory and dominance by forcibly overtaking its former territories such as Ukraine, which are now independent states since 1992.

Similarly the Republican Party led by older white men is seeking to hold on to its weakening grasp of power, supremacy, and dominance against the growing diversity of American culture.

Jackson represents the first African-American woman to be considered in the Supreme Court’s 233-year history. Her combined blackness and womanhood represent this country’s most influential and consistently growing voting power base, black women. President Biden’s nominating her underscored that reality.

Despite Ukraine’s heavy bombardment, escalating civilian deaths, and millions of displaced citizens, Russia will not overtake Ukraine and its people’s resolve to be free and independent.

And no amount of verbal bombardment, unethical questioning, and groundless character assassination will derail black folks’ and womens’ increasing assent to the nation’s highest court through Judge Jackson.

The cases against Ukraine and Judge Jackson are as groundless as Jesus’ parable of the houses built on the sand and on the rock foundations. Matthew 7:24-27 records that the house built on sand collapsed when hit by storms, but the house that withstood the storms was the one built on a solid foundation of rock.

We should all build our life’s foundation not on the flimsy sand of un-principled beliefs and practices, but instead on the solid rock foundation of God’s word.

Rock on, Ukrainian people! Rock on, Ketanji Brown Jackson!

The Sound of the Rushing of Rain

1 Kings 18:41 (ESV)

The word, drought, immediately conjures up not only lack of some kind, but a sustained lack. Although it primarily has to do with rain, the concept can be applied to different scenarios.

Water represents a life-giving source and naturally without it, living things that depend upon it eventually dies if rain doesn't once again begin to fall.

Life is full of periods of droughts of various kinds, but for the believer there is a way to "go through" that will help sustain him/her during those times.

The prophet Elijah gives some helpful holy hints in how to conduct ourselves in the meantime.

The first thing is to keep living as a servant. Servants of God cannot afford to stop serving simply because there is a drought because others need a visible and viable example of how to go through times of drought.

Elijah continued to serve God through continuous proclamation of what thus says the LORD. Elijah was not only responsible for telling King

pxabay.com/Alexa Fotos

Ahab of the drought and why God was sending it, but because the same God is in charge of the rain, Elijah also delivered the good news of the coming rain.

Therefore, not only did he keep living as a servant, but he also kept listening for the sound.

This was not just going to be a little sprinkle but rather a rushing of rain; an abundance.

Finally, keep learning what God says.

THE VALLEY WEEKLY ALL FOR THE FAMILY Try a Little Kindness

Kindness is one of the nine virtues of the Fruit of the Spirit. More can be accomplished with kindness than with force. It is a language that the deaf can hear and the blind can see. It is doing what you can, when you can with what you have.

Practicing kindness with family and friends not only deepens connections and creates stronger bonds, but brings feelings of joy for you and your loved ones.

The late Maya Angelou maintained that an individual may forget what you said about or did to them, but they will never forget how you made them feel. Ephesians 4:32 encourages us to "be kind to one another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another as God in Christ forgave you".

Kindness must extend beyond age, race, creed and socio-economic status. It can soften the hardest hearts. Forgiving someone who hurts you is one of the greatest acts of kindness that you can give.

Do not underestimate the power of kind words, a smile, a gentle touch, a listening ear or performing a simple deed. Kindness is love made visible.

~Think About It~

During offertory in many churches, members often sing "you can't beat God giving, no matter how hard you try. The more you give, the more He gives to you."

Amid the growing tragedies, fears and anxieties in today's world, try giving a little kindness or performing a kind deed for someone sometimes.

AAMU Prepares for Wims Investiture

A team of Alabama A&M University students, faculty and staff, alumni and other community supporters are in the final stages of preparation for the investiture ceremony of the 147-year-old institution's 12th president, Dr. Daniel K. Wims on Friday, April 29, at the Thomas M. Elmore Building at 10 a.m.

Dr. Wims earned the Bachelor of Science degree in Agronomy in June 1987 at Fort Valley State University and the Master of Science degree in agricultural extension from The Ohio State University in 1989. In August 1994, he received the Ph.D. degree from the University of Maryland-College Park. A graduate of Harvard University's Institute for Management and Leadership in Education, Dr. Wims is also a product of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities Millennium Program and Hampton University's Executive Leadership Development Program.

The nearly 50-member Wims investiture committee is being led by AAMU Board President Pro Tempore Jerome B. Williams. Dr. Jeanette Jones, University Distinguished Professor, trustee and Faculty Senate president; and Felicia Wilson, General Manager, AAMU Aramark, serve as the committee's co-chairs. Alabama State Representative Laura Hall is honorary chair.

Organizers began planning for the ceremony during the fall semester, and a separate Presidential Transition Team (led by Dr. Tonya Perry, chair; Dr. Kylie Nash and Gerald Vines, co-chairs; Dr. Jeanette Jones, special liaison to the Board of Trustees; and Dr. Charlotte Teague, secretary) developed a 12-week series of events leading up to and culminating with the investiture. All activities were linked to the investiture theme, "Advancing Our Legacy, Reimagining Our Future."

Each week of the "Investiture Countdown" highlights a key University constituent group and provides an opportunity for Wims to interact and receive valuable input and ideas. The 12-week series opened with a "Student Engagement Week," which ran from February 7-13, and concluded with a "Investiture Week" (April 25-30). Among the key constituent groups are faculty, staff, alumni, religious/civic groups, and several others.

The culminating week will feature two panel discussions moderated by President Wims. The panels, which will respectively highlight "Advancing Our Legacy" and "Reimagining Our Future," will feature invited guests, including former presidents, and alumni [Tuesday, April 26, and Thursday, April 28, 12-2 p.m. via Zoom].

The week will culminate on April 29 with the Investiture of AAMU's 12th President at 10 a.m., and a Presidential Luncheon will follow. The optional Black-Tie Scholarship Gala, featuring R&B singer Avery Sunshine, will celebrate AAMU scholarship recipients, recognize donors and honor the newly installed President Daniel K. Wims.
