Washington One Minute

by Ron Hamm

Here are the top issues and events in Washington for the week.

1. CONGRESS. The House convened on Tuesday, while the Senate is in recess for the next 2 weeks. The House will focus on 7 FY2025 appropriations bills this week, bringing 3 bills (DoD, Homeland Security, and State/Foreign Ops) to the floor and marking up 4 bills (Labor/HHS/Ed, Transportation/ HUD, Interior, and Energy & Water) in committee.

2. THE WHITE HOUSE. President Biden has been at Camp David since last week preparing for Thursday's first CNN presidential debate at 9 p.m. EDT in Atlanta. After the debate, he will travel to Raleigh, N.C., where he will hold a rally on Friday. Last week, the President announced a new policy that would allow approximately 500,000 noncitizens who have been in the U.S. for at least 10 years and are married to a U.S. citizen to apply for permanent residence without leaving the U.S.

3. DOBBS DECISION ANNIVERSARY. On Monday, the Biden-Harris Campaign marked the 2nd anniversary of the Supreme Court's decision in Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Organization that overturned the federal legal right to an abortion. Vice President Harris will deliver remarks at the University of Maryland and the campaign will hold 50 events in battleground states around the nation.

4. SUPREME COURT. Last Friday, the Supreme Court upheld a 1994 federal law that bars anyone subject to a domestic violence restraining order from possessing a gun in an 8-1 decision with Justice Thomas as the lone dissenter (the case is U.S. v. Rahimi) ...

5. ECONOMIC NUMBERS. Last Friday, the National Association of Realtors announced that sales of previously occupied U.S. homes fell 0.7% in May for the 3rd straight decline as the national median home sales price hit a record $419,300 (an increase of 51% from 2019). The Commerce Department reported Thursday that construction of new homes fell 5.5% in May, the lowest level since June 2020, with permits for future construction of single-family homes falling 2.9% in May. After hitting 7% in April and May, the average rate on a 30-year fixed mortgage has eased to 6.95% last week, according to data from mortgage finance agency Freddie Mac, as easing labor market conditions put 2 rate cuts from the Federal Reserve this year back on the table.

6. CAMPAIGN DOLLARS. Last week, the Trump Campaign announced that it had raised $141 million in May, including $53 million collected in the 24 hours after former President Trump's criminal conviction and a $50 million donation from billionaire banking heir Timothy Mellon, with $116 million cash on hand. The Biden-Harris team raised $85 million with $212 million cash on hand.

7. EDUCATION. On June 18, the Congressional Budget Office (CBO) released its latest cost projections for the Pell Grant program. The report was surprisingly better than anticipated. Many observers predicted that the Pell program would exhaust its current surplus and cross over into a shortfall that Congress would have to fill in as early as fiscal year (FY) 2025. However, the recently released projections predict that will not happen until FY 2029, assuming Congress appropriates the same amount for the program every year and no other costs are added to the program (such as an increase to the Pell Grant maximum award). A significant difference between CBO's May 2023 projection and the one released on June 18 is the number of projected Pell recipients in the next few years. Last May, CBO predicted 6.43 million Pell recipients in FY 2024, while the new report estimates that number to be 5.94 million, or almost 500,000 fewer Pell recipients than previously projected.

Spiritual Game Plan

PRESTON BROWN'S

"Forgiving Yourself"

Psalm 103:12 says, "As far as the east is from the west, so far has He removed our transgressions from us."

God knows that we are not perfect. He just wants us to keep working toward perfection. He wants us to keep making progress and moving forward. Momentum is everything as it pertains to your spiritual growth. Keep moving forward and don't look back. Don't look back at past disappointments. Don't look back at past mistakes and bad choices that you've made, because you can't do anything about them now. Let's stop looking back at past sins and know in our hearts that God has forgiven us.

Isaiah 43:19 says, God is doing a new thing in your life. Can't you perceive it? God is a God of forgiveness and progress. And He wants all of us to be better. Now, I realize that sometimes we may feel unforgiven for our past sins. But that's not the kind of God that we serve. Remember that Isaiah 43:25 says, "I even I am He who blots out your transgressions for my own sake and remembers your sins no more." When Jesus died on the cross, He paid a debt that none of us could pay, and because of it, our sins were forgiven. All we have to do is receive this great gift of grace by faith.

Prayer: Most merciful God, help us to realize that our sins are forgiven not because of anything that we can do but because of everything that Jesus did when He died upon a cross. All we can do is confess that we have sinned.

Question: Is there any past sin that you are holding on to? Remember, only you and God need to know so you can forgive yourself.

Stay encouraged, my brothers and sisters, and make sure you purchase a copy of my books Spiritual Game Plans for A Successful Life and A Champion Game Plan for Life at amazon.com or Westbow books.

Black Real Estate Brokers Defending Representation on State Board

A federal court in Alabama will hold a hearing on Thursday, July 11, 2024 at 2:30 pm CT in a case considering the state's longstanding law that aims to ensure racial, gender, geographic, urban/rural, and economic representation on the state's appraisers board.

In the case, American Alliance for Equal Rights (AAER) v. Ivey, the same activists who have challenged affirmative action and other equal opportunity measures across our nation are seeking to render Alabama's board representation law unconstitutional. The Alabama Association of Real Estate Brokers (AAREB) has been allowed to defend the law. AAREB is represented in the case by Democracy Forward and Martin Weinberg. The Alabama law at issue seeks to ensure both that racial minorities are on the appraisers board and that the board reflects the communities who are governed by its decisions. The law has played an important role in addressing the ongoing and historical racial discrimination in housing and lending that has negatively impacted Black Alabamians and other historically marginalized groups.

At the hearing, the court will consider AAER's motion for judgment on the pleadings and whether the case can proceed to discovery. Based on its complaint, AAER claims that there is no history of racial discrimination on appointments to the appraisers board to justify the law at issue.

AAREB will oppose AAER's motion and press for evidence to be developed in the case through discovery.

The AAREB is the Alabama chapter of the National Association for Real Estate Brokers, which was founded in 1947 and is the oldest trade association for Black real estate professionals who were for decades wholly excluded from joining other professional associations because of their race. Although principally focused on Black real estate professionals, AAREB's membership is open to all people committed to achieving “democracy in housing.” AAER v. Ivey is one of a series of challenges to board composition provisions being litigated across the country, including in Louisiana, Tennessee, North Carolina, and Montana. MORE

The 2024 Boston Celtics: A New Era of Dynasty-Making! (Part 1 of 2)

"But these things I plan won't happen right away. Slowly, steadily, surely, the time approaches when the vision will be fulfilled. If it seems slow, do not despair, for these things will surely come to pass. Just be patient! They will not be overdue a single day!" - Habakkuk 2:3

On June 17, the Boston Celtics clinched their NBA-record 18th championship title. This recent success positions them as potential dynasty-makers - here's why:

1. According to my latest book, Where Jump Shots Meet Jesus, a dynasty is a team that secures three championships in three consecutive years or three in four years. We'll use this standard to evaluate the Celtics' potential.

Therefore, the Golden State Warriors (2022 champs), Denver Nuggets (2023), and now the Celtics are poised as dynasty makers. However, Boston's potential to continue this winning streak is higher, with the possibility of winning again in '25 and/or '26 or '27.

2. "MVP & His Pips." Jaylen Brown captured the honors of Eastern Conference Finals and Championship Finals Most Valuable Player (MVP).

At the same time, the league's Most Valuable President was Boston's President of Basketball Operations Brad Stevens, this year's NBA Basketball Executive of the Year. How Brad Stevens turned Celtics into champions: 5 trades that led to Boston's 2024 NBA Finals roster | Sporting News sequenced how he horse-traded Boston for three years into assembling a team of assist-/rebound-/defend-first players more than score-first stars. NBA Finals: 5 takeaways as Celtics top Mavericks for 2024 championship summarized, "When they needed a basket, they turned to Brown. A defensive stop? Holiday. A big shot? White. Someone to create for others? Tatum refused to be swallowed up by his shooting slump. And other players fell in line."

Finally, the Celtics' championship-winning legacy features an irrepressible itch and lure. As a 17-year veteran of 185 playoff games with no championship ring, Al Horford recalled his conversation years ago with Stevens' predecessor, Danny Ainge: "You can win championships in many places, but there's nothing like winning in Boston. Nothing like winning as a Celtic."

It's not too late to begin or continue building your dynasty of establishing winning principles and values at your home, work, or place of worship.

Rosetta James Foundation "Spotlight on Our Elders" ... Featuring

Mrs. Mary Ann Flowers

Mary Ann May Flowers, a native of Washington County, (Millry) Alabama, is the youngest of seven children born to Alonza James May and Izora Holcombe May. She attended Koenton High School, Koenton, Alabama and North Central High School, Chatom, Alabama. After completing high school in 1967, she had a desire to follow in the footsteps of her uncle, aunt and two brothers. Therefore, she matriculated to Alabama A&M University, Normal, Ala. While at AAMU, she was a member of the track and field team, Phi Beta Lambda Business Club and in the spring of 1969 joined Gamma Mu Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc., where she served as epistelous. In 1971 she earned a B.S. degree in Business Education with a minor in Economics. In 1979, she earned a M.S. degree in Vocational Business Education.

Mrs. Flowers began an adventurous career, one which she will never forget, the fall 1971. She was employed with the Perry County School System, Marion, Ala., for 31 years, teaching at only two schools, East Perry High School, Suttle, Ala., for one year, and Robert C. Hatch High School, Uniontown, Ala., for 30 years. During her tenure, she taught an array of related Business Courses as well as Economics. One of the greatest, beloved parts of her career was her FBLA (Future Business Leaders of America) student organization, which was an integral part of the program which she implemented in 1989. Her students traveled all over the U.S. serving as a state officer and competing in several events.

After retiring in 2002, she still wanted to make a difference in the lives of students, as well as improved the community in which she lived. She wrote a grant to Alabama Power Company and was granted enough money to buy 10 computers, which she used to open up a computer lab in the local library. In the afternoon, she taught basic computer skills to adults on those computers.

While residing in Uniontown, Ala., for 44 years, she participated in many community and civic activities. She was a very active member of First Missionary Baptist Church. She also served on Uniontown Library Board, Recreation Board, Uniontown Cares and a member of the Alabama Democratic Conference. She has been a member of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc., for 53 years. While a member of Zeta Eta Omega Chapter, Selma, Ala., she served as anti-basileus, grammateus, Ivy Leaf Reporter, and secretary for the Women and Youth Services Board of Directors. Currently, she is a member of Epsilon Gamma Omega Chapter, Huntsville, Alabama. She holds membership with St. Mary Chapter No. 367 OES Orrville, Alabama and has membership with PCERA, NEA, and AEA.

After relocating to Huntsville, Ala., in 2015, she joined First Missionary Baptist Church, where she serves on the Intermediate Usher Ministry, Missionary Society (Circle No. 2), Congregational Care Lay Ministry and volunteers for the Downtown Rescue Mission and other activities.

Her beloved late husband, Johnny L. Flowers, was a Perry County Commissioner. They were blessed with two sons, Mallory Hughes Flowers of Clinton, MS; Maynard Radale Flowers of Round, Rock, TX; and a grandson she raised, Johnny Lee Flowers, II, of Huntsville.

Unanimous: AAMU Board Extends Wims' Contract to 2030

In a unanimous vote of trustees present at the June board meeting, the Alabama A&M University (AAMU) Board of Trustees voted to extend the contract of President Daniel K. Wims to December 31, 2030. Two trustees were not present at the time of voting.

The action was taken affirming AAMU's continued stability and growth as the largest Historically Black College and University (HBCU) in Alabama.

"I am grateful to the Board of Trustees for entrusting me to continue to serve this institution, its faculty, staff, students and alumni. The collective commitment and dedication of our administrative team, faculty and staff is to be commended. As we continue to move forward, I am confident that our focused efforts for growth and success will be met with great enthusiasm and acceptance," said Wims.

Wims assumed the AAMU presidency in January 2022 after serving as Provost and Vice President

- District on campus
- Increased the University's property landscape to over 2,500 acres of land
- Acquired the largest non-monetary gift in AAMU history by repurposing Paint Rock Valley High School as a "Communiversity" facility for educational and community activities

Research/Funding

- University garnered increases in federal funding for FY'23 and FY'24
- Increased state appropriations in FY'23 and in FY'24
- Recipient of AAMU's second largest gift of a $1.2 million endowment from an AAMU alumnus to

- provide tuition assistance for academically gifted students

Additionally, AAMU's Marching Maroon and White Band made history as the first HBCU band to lead the Macy's Thanksgiving Parade and AAMU experienced a record-breaking Homecoming attendance of 26,391 fans in the stadium and 55,000+ on campus with a fundraising total of $1.4 million, the largest in its history. Overall, these growth factors are the precursor for the university to celebrate its 150 years of existence in 2025.

Ensuring All Is Well Before that Summer Road Trip

(BPT) - As peak summer travel season approaches, the cost and stress associated with road trips are top concerns for many travelers. With 43% of households planning road trips as their top travel plan this year, proper preparation of both your vehicle and home is essential. Mercury Insurance offers critical tips to ensure your vehicle is road-ready and your home is secure, allowing you to focus on the adventure ahead. These preparations can not only enhance your trip experience but also provide peace of mind while you're away.

"Preparing your vehicle and securing your home are critical steps before embarking on a summer road trip," said Kevin Quinn, vice president of Auto Claims at Mercury Insurance. "Taking these steps can significantly reduce the chances of unexpected incidents and help ensure a smooth and enjoyable journey."

Mercury's guide to a worry-free road trip

Vehicle readiness:

* Maintenance checks: Regular maintenance, such as oil changes and fluid checks, is indispensable, particularly before a long trip. Ensuring your air conditioning is up to the task is also crucial for beating the summer heat.

* Tire safety: Proper tire maintenance, including checking tire pressure, alignment and tread wear, is vital for safe driving and fuel efficiency.

* Lighting system check: Ensure all lights and signals are functional to communicate effectively with other drivers during day and night.

* Emergency kit essentials: A well-stocked emergency kit should include items like road flares, jumper cables and basic tools to handle unexpected roadside issues.

Home security:

* Precautions before leaving: Secure all entry points and activate your security system. Inform a trusted neighbor or friend about your travel plans so they can keep an eye on your property.

* Social media awareness: Delay posting about your trip to avoid tipping off potential burglars. Share your memories once you are safely home.

* Insurance coverage: Review your home insurance policy to ensure you are covered against any possible incidents that could occur while you are away.

Planning and preparation:

* Route and weather planning: Check your travel route for any potential disruptions like road work or severe weather conditions. Plan fuel stops or charging stations for electric vehicles (EVs) accordingly.

* Local emergency information: Keep contact information for emergency services and local contacts accessible throughout your journey.
