100BMOGH Holds Its 23rd Annual Golf Classic

On August 5, 2023, members of 100 Black Men of Greater Huntsville (100BMOGH), Inc. held their 23rd Annual John Riche Memorial Golf Classic at the picturesque Colonial Golf Course in Meridianville, Ala.

The 100BMOGH is committed to making a positive impact in the lives of the community's youth. The John Riche Memorial Golf Classic serves as a fundraising event to support the Men of Tomorrow (MOT) Mentoring Program and Educational Scholarships.

These initiatives are the heart of the "Four for the Future" Cornerstone Programs, which target Mentoring, Education, Health & Wellness, and Economic Empowerment.

Over the past 23 years, 100BMOGH has proudly awarded over $300,000.00 in scholarships to Tennessee Valley Youth. These scholarships are granted annually to deserving young individuals who meet prescribed requirements, regardless of race, gender, or religious preference.

This year, programs are focused on Robotics, Basic Sciences, and Economic Empowerment. They are also passionate about providing tutoring, educational field trips, and a strong foundation for our youth's success.

The main golfing event was divided into three flights--two for male golfers and one for female golfers.

Prizes were awarded to the first, second, and third-place winners in each flight. Not to mention, we have exciting awards for the longest drive and the closest shot to the pin!

The golfers had the thrilling opportunity to participate in two hole-in-one contests, with top prizes worth $10,000 and a staggering $1 million!

By participating in the 23rd Annual John Riche Memorial Golf Classic, persons not only got to enjoy a fantastic day of golf but also to contribute to a cause that shapes the future of the youth and empowers them to achieve greatness.

Orion Event Focuses on Hispanic Culture

Celebrate the start of Hispanic Heritage Month at The Orion Amphitheater on Sunday, September 17, from 12-6 p.m. with "CulturA Festiva," a FREE community festival presented by Revel Events Agency and El Olmeca.

The six-hour CulturA Festival is an annual celebration of Hispanic culture, food and music in Huntsville. The event will consist of diverse Hispanic food trucks from Mexico, Venezuela, Puerto Rico, Nicaragua and many other countries. Live musical performances by various Latin music genres will also be featured, as well as a Latino-owned vendors village and a panel discussion with Latino-owned business owners and community leaders in Huntsville.

This year, CulturA Festival expands its footprint by adding a 'Wellness Village' presented by Huntsville Hospital and consisting of resources and services in the health, financial, education and social sectors that lead to the success of a community. This is a free event, open to the public.

Who's on First?

Matthew 6:33 says, "But, seek first his kingdom and his righteousness, and all these things will be given to you as well."

One of the things we need to realize is that God demands to be first in our lives. When we put Him first, it establishes His importance in our lives. If God is not Lord of all, then He is not Lord at all when it comes to our lives. For example, if watching football is first in your life, then football is lord of your life. If shopping is first in your life, then shopping is lord of your life. If your job and your money are first in your life, then your job and your money are lords of your life.

Now Lord is translated as 'Adonai,' which is equivalent to ruler or master. If these things are ruling over your lives, then you have entered a dangerous place that is not God's will for your life.

Anytime our will becomes greater than God's will for our lives, the result will be separation from God. That's why it is important that we seek Him first so things don't get out of hand.

Now, the definition of being first is preceding all others in time and in order of importance. That's why God demands to be first, because He has blessed us so much. Always remember that total obedience produces total reward.

Whatever we decide to seek first will always determine the quality of our lives. Matthew 6:21 reminds us that "where your treasure is there your heart will be also." Those who place God first also have hearts that want to please Him. May God grant you spiritual success in choosing the very best for your life. Question: What things do you value the most in your life?

Strength ...

something funny, drive, go somewhere you haven't been, dress up, smile, dance, workout ... move. You cannot lay there. You are wasting time and your life.

Strength ...
Where do you pull it from when you feel you have nothing else to give? You're tapped out. Mentally and physically, gone. (That mental can sure tear that physical down quickly) So, in this time of despair, where do you get your strength?

out of this before your circumstance changes?

You have GOT to do something! I know you don't want to, but the first step is all it takes. No one else is responsible for getting you up and out of this funk. Read, watch and if it's not going to matter five years from now, don't allow it to take the strength you have. Take it back!!!

You can do it; think back; you're a warrior; you've done it before! Grab your strength, and let's go!

Want to Improve your Memory? Start with "What's that in your Hand?"

And the Lord said to him, "What is that in your hand?" He said, "A rod." And he said, "cast it on the ground" - Exodus 4:2,3

Previous to the Bible verses, the shepherd Moses was telling God why he couldn't follow his command to lead his fellow Israelites out of their 400-year Egyptian slavery. God then ordered him to throw down his shepherd-ing rod, which then became a snake. God then had Moses retrieve it, returning it to a shepherd's rod.

Here, God was showing Moses that they would partner to bring victory, once Moses used the resources in his hand.

If you like me are starting to forget things more and more - both young and old - join me in following Moses' mandate: in your and my hands are God's words, humility, and old-school tools.

Sometimes it is easier to recall activities from 20, 30, and 40 years ago than it is to remember tasks from 20, 30, or 40 minutes ago!

[DISCLAIMER: This column is NOT to replace medical or professional advice. Instead, it's my natural, humbling way to reverse my increasing memory seepage.]

Again, "what is that in your hand?" God's Word, humility, and old-school tools.

"In the Beginning, . . ."

What built my memory 60 years ago was the three-pronged process of memorizing Bible verses at home, for church school, and church.

Recently, I downloaded an app that will make me once again memorize, write, and recite three new Bible verses weekly.

"Repeat after me, . . ."

The maxim "repetition deepens the impression" actually works.

I'm learning now to humble myself and ask what they've just said; then in my own words, I'll recap their instructions!

"Write On!"

My latest venture is to jot down what I heard being said - that is, when I can remember to carry a small pad and pen!

The Navigators founder-evangelist Dawson Trotman once said, "Thoughts disentangle themselves when they pass through the lips and fingertips."

These are God-gifts immediately available to us, "in your hands."

Are these three tools of humility, Bible re-memorizations, and notetaking working?

I'll keep you posted, . . . that is, if I remember.

Mr. Jesse Johnson, Jr.

Korean and Vietnam War veteran Jesse Johnson, Jr., of Tampa, Fla., devoted more than 41 years to a career built on enlisted, civilian and corporate experiences. He served the Army as an enlisted officer and served in both Korea and Vietnam for almost 11 years. From there, he served 30 years in the civil service arena as a specialist in equipment for the HAWK Missile System; to the Maintenance Engineering Directorate, USAMICOM; as a logistics and program management specialist; and as an international program management specialist.

Even for a few years following his retirement in 1995, he continued to serve as a consultant for international program management at Sigma Tech, Inc., of Huntsville, Ala.

Mr. Johnson has been married to Mrs. Ella Mary Harris for more than six decades, and they are the parents of three children, one daughter in Hoover, Alabama, and two sons, one in Huntsville and the other in Jacksonville, Florida. One of his grandsons was accepted into Harvard University, which made Mr. Johnson awfully proud. They also have five beautiful grandchildren, three grandsons and two granddaughters. In addition, he has one sister and two brothers.

His religious and community service is legion and encompasses contributions to the Alabama A & M University Alumni Association, Defense systems Management College Alumni Association, Pacesetters Lions Club, International Association of Lions Clubs, Blacks in Government, The American Legion, the National Court Appointed Special Advocate Association, the North Alabama International Trace Association and the Alabama Association of Human Resource Boards. Additional service include membership and board positions with the Alabama Lions Sight Conservation Association, the Eyesight Foundation of Alabama, the Huntsville/Madison County Senior Center, the Madison County Department of Human Resources, Harris Home for Children, First Community Health Plan, TARCOCG Area Agency on Aging, Alabama Silver-Haired Legislature, AL Institute for the Death and Blind, Volunteers of America, State Bible Bowl Coordinator for the Scholastic Motivation Ministries of the AL 2nd Jurisdiction Lions Club, Loan Executive for the United Way, Child Protection Board of Madison County, Madison County Juvenile Courts Dependency Task Force, Madison County/Limestone County Community Action Agency, C. H. Mason Bible College within the Church of God in Christ, the Nike Gold Tournament, and a Deacon, Past Trustee, Sunday School and Bible Teacher at First Church of God in Christ.

A sociology and economics graduate of historic Alabama A&M University, Johnson still enjoys golf, chess, home construction projects and gardening.

He has amassed awards and commendations far too numerous to list.

"Spotlight on Our Elders" is a weekly feature sponsored by the Rosetta James Foundation to promote volunteerism and activism in our community among those who are 70-plus. The Foundation also provides scholarships. Learn more about us at www.rosettajamesfoundation.org. ## Focusing on Early Childhood Education = Long-term Success!

(BPT) - Being a parent means fostering the attributes children need to succeed in life. The aim is to create humans who will be a benefit to society, exemplifying strong character, morals, intelligence, confidence and more. That's why it's important to be intentional with what children are taught from a young age, beginning in early childhood education programs.

According to a survey of parents with children ages 0-6 conducted by OnePoll on behalf of Kiddie Academy Educational Child Care, parents prioritize learning soft skills and social issues in early childhood education over subjects like math, history, geography and science. Parents are looking for a well-rounded experience that isn't necessarily aimed at teaching the common subjects that come to mind when thinking about "school" in general.

Instead, parents are more likely to want to narrow in on "outcomes" that will propel their children forward in areas that will help them become successful adults.

So what are the key outcomes parents should look for when choosing an early childhood education program? Experts at Kiddie Academy say the outcomes of character, confidence, curiosity, connection, critical thinking and creative expression are the most important.

"When we concentrate on building skills to benefit children for life, especially at a young age, we aren't solely focused on teaching domains of education that increase subject knowledge, but instead on building a developmental base that will form the foundation for future education," said Ocie Watson-Thompson, Ed.D, at Towson University and Kiddie Academy curriculum advisory board member.

For children of pre-school age, focusing on the outcomes of hands-on, play-based experiences is key. Social-emotional development is another result of early childhood education that should not be overlooked. Everything a child learns in a child care program should build a developmental foundation.

According to NAEYC, early math, for example, is not about the rote learning of discrete facts like how much 5 + 7 equals or worksheets with one correct answer. Rather, it's about children actively making sense of the world around them and using open-ended playful exploration to encourage children to solve problems in real situations. In this case, the outcome of critical thinking is built around subtle mathematical principles, providing the foundation for learning more complex concepts as children grow.

Other outcomes like confidence, connection and creative expression are built by helping children recognize their strengths and abilities, fostering positive relationships with peers and adults, and through imaginative crafts and play. It's a building-block concept. Each outcome is the first block in what will eventually grow into a fully developed and sturdy tower.

Parents today find it more important for children to learn practical life skills over traditional academics in the early childhood development years, according to the aforementioned survey. And it appears they're on to something. Focusing on the practical outcomes a child can learn in their early years can make all the difference in kickstarting a lifetime of learning.

Huntsville Announces 2023 Jazz in the Park Lineup

Some of the country's most revered jazz artists will participate in Huntsville's annual Jazz in the Park concert series scheduled for September.

Artists scheduled to perform at this year's festival were revealed on Wednesday, May 24, by Kenny Anderson, director of the City's Office of Diversity, Equity & Inclusion (ODEI). As with previous years, free performances will be each Sunday in September at Big Spring Park East.

Jazz in the Park-Huntsville includes music education workshops with local students. The workshops expose young people to high caliber jazz recording artists and cover topics such as improvisation, section playing, tuning, intonation and more.

This year's festival will act as a kick-off event for Huntsville Music Month, observed each September. Music Officer Matt Mandrella said Jazz in the Park's enduring popularity is paramount to transforming Huntsville into a music city.

The schedule of performers is as follows:

Sunday, Sept. 3

5 p.m. – Erisa Nicole
6 p.m. – Tr3ple Threat
7:30 p.m. – Jessy J

Sunday, Sept 10
