UAH Hosts National Student Poster Contest

Students from throughout the United States participated in the 14th annual Wernher von Braun Memorial Symposium student poster competition hosted by the University of Alabama in Huntsville.

The poster session offers students a chance to present research projects relevant to the aerospace industry, such as atmospheric science, earth observation, space life sciences, space health, aerospace systems engineering and design, astrophysics, space weather, optics, economics, business, policy, sustainability, history, international relations, education, STEM outreach initiatives and related areas.

A pool of 80 applicants was narrowed down to 30 selected to participate from around the country.

Judges were members of the American Astronautical Society (AAS). AAS members choose a top pick who will attend the 2022 International Astronautical

Congress in Paris.

Last year's top pick, UAH's Emily Wood, recently participated in an IAC conference in Dubai.

Poet Part of Press Project

Talented local poet Carey Link has been selected to participate in the November 30/30 Tupelo Press Poetry Project.

To enhance appreciation of poetry, Link will pen 30 poems as a fundraiser for Tupelo Press.

Tupelo Press, Inc., a 501(c)(3) nonprofit company, released its first five books in fall 2001. It is an independent, literary press devoted to discovering and publishing works of poetry, literary fiction, and creative nonfiction by emerging and established writers.

Link's poetry has appeared in Birmingham Poetry Review, Poem, Hospital

Drive, and other publications. She has published five poetry collections, including "To Light a House of Bones" (Blue Light Press); "Through the Kaleidoscope" (Blue Light Press); and "I Walk a Frayed Tightrope Without a Safety Net" (Finishing Line Press).

Huntsville Metro Meeting Set

The November monthly meeting of the Huntsville Metro Black Chamber of Commerce will be live and in-person.

Join members at 12 noon on Tuesday, November 16, at the Madison County District 6 Office, 3210 Hi Lo Circle. Mask wearing is preferred, so "Please MASK Up!"

Lunch is on us, so please RSVP to info@hsvblackchamber.org by November 12.

The Huntsville Metro Black Chamber of Commerce is a 501(c)3 community-based economic development non-profit organization serving the Huntsville metro region.

Its mission is to promote, create and foster economic development opportunities for Black communities and their members to increase overall business and economic growth through leadership, support, and collaboration with current and potential partners.

Huntsville Metro Black Chamber of Commerce is a charter affiliate of the Alabama State Black Chamber of Commerce.

Huntsville Site of New Cheesecake Factory

The Tennessee Valley is the new location of a long-awaited restaurant, which was slated for opening on October 26 at Bridge Street Town Center.

The new facility is located between Barnes & Noble and P.F. Chang's. The California-based restaurant's menu features over 250 dishes made daily from scratch.

Washington in One Minute

Here are the happenings in Washington, D.C., this week:

1. ON THE FLOOR.

The House and Senate are in session this week. After marathon negotiations last week, the House is expected to vote on President Biden's "Build Back Better (BBB) Act" and the Senate-passed infrastructure bill, known as the "Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act," as soon as Tuesday, Nov. 2. The House Leadership instructed all House committees working on changes to the BBB Act to complete work by Sunday.

2. THE WHITE

HOUSE. On Monday, President Biden was in Glasgow, Scotland, to participate in the World Leader Summit of the 26th Conference of the Parties to the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (COP-26), which ran through Tuesday.

3. COVID VACCINE

FOR KIDS. Last Friday, the Food and Drug Administration granted an emergency use authorization for the Pfizer vaccine for 28 million U.S. children aged 5-11. Moreover, the Centers for Disease Control's Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices met beginning Tuesday to recommend the implementation of the FDA's authorization, with vaccines likely available this week for the new group. In related news, the Supreme Court last Friday declined to intervene in an emergency request from a group of Maine health care workers to halt a state vaccine mandate that does not allow religious exemptions.

4. SUPREME COURT

EXPEDITES ABORTION CASES. On Monday, the Supreme Court heard oral arguments in a pair of cases challenging the Texas law that bans nearly all abortions after the 6th week of pregnancy. In two orders on October 22, the court granted requests by the Biden Administration and a group of Texas abortion providers to leap-frog proceedings in the court of appeals, but it refused a request from the Department of Justice to reinstate a decision by a federal district judge, later overruled by the Court of Appeals for the 5th Circuit, who declared the law unconstitutional and temporarily blocked it. According to the SCOTUSblog website, the two orders suggest that the court will not directly weigh in on whether the Texas law, known as S.B. 8, violates the constitutional right to obtain an abortion. Instead, in the case brought by the Biden Administration, the court will consider whether the federal government has the right to sue in federal court to block the law's enforcement. And in the case brought by the abortion providers, the court will assess the law's unusual private-enforcement structure, which deputizes private individuals to bring lawsuits against doctors, clinics, or anyone else who aids or abets an abortion. On Dec. 1, the court is scheduled to hear a Mississippi abortion case, Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Organization, that directly challenges Roe v. Wade. Under Roe, states cannot ban abortion prior to the point of viability, or around 24 weeks of pregnancy. Texas' law bans nearly all abortions after about 6 weeks and Mississippi's law (which was blocked by lower courts before it took effect) would ban nearly all abortions after 15 weeks.

5. HIGHER EDUCATION. The U.S. Department of Education Office of Postsecondary Education will launch its Affordability and Student Loan Negotiated Rulemaking Committee meetings. The first session of the Affordability and Student Loan Committee begins at 10 a.m. ET, followed by a second session at 1 p.m. ET. Meetings will continue through November 5.

Perception Is Everything!

1 Samuel 17:45 says, David said to Goliath, “You come against me with sword and spear and javelin, but I come against you in the name of the Lord Almighty, the God of the armies of Israel, whom you have defiled.”

You know, it’s been said that “perception is everything.” The way we see things will affect the way that we react to them. For example, what do you do when you are faced with a situation that appears to be too much for you to handle? And, everything looks like a “giant”. But if we believe in the power of God, we should know that there is no problem too big for God.

When we look at this scripture we can read for ourselves that Goliath was a Giant Problem, that someone had to deal with. According to the text, Goliath had been defiling the entire Israelite Army for 40 days. But the worst thing of all was that they put up with it. No one was willing to challenge Goliath until David came along. You see, David didn’t look at Goliath the same way that these soldiers looked at him. David had a different perspective of the situation and he realized that the “battle” was in God’s hands and not in the hands of a shepherd with a rock and a slingshot. And, this message is for all of us. When we are facing difficult times, we need to know where our help comes from, because so many times we allow the devil to expose our weaknesses in such a way that we are unaware of the strength that we have.

I believe our strength comes from the wisdom that we get from God. When we have wisdom, it gives us a better perception of life. Just like we find with David. For example, everyone else looked at Goliath and said he’s too big to kill. But

David looked at Goliath and said “He’s too big to miss”. You see, perception is everything. Stay encouraged, my brothers and sisters. And, make sure you purchase a copy of my book, “A Champion Game Plan For Life” at amazon.com

A New Generation Of Service

THE VALLEY WEEKLY ALL FOR THE FAMILY

One activity that is common to every family is COMMUNICATION.

Communication is the process of sending and receiving information. Studies show that we spend 70-80% of our waking hours in some form of communication. About 45% of time is spent listening, 30% speaking, 16% reading and 9% writing.

A review of the ways we communicate can be useful when seeking ways to communicate more effectively.

Major Types of Communication

1. Verbal: Using a strong, confident and competent speaking voice to convey a message.

Avoid using fillers like “um”, “or”, “you know”, or “so”.

Family members can use

Face-Time and Zoom to verbalize.

2. Nonverbal: Gestures using body languages intentionally and unintentionally. Eye contact, facial expressions, tone of voice, and body languages.

3. Visual: Using photos, graphs, charts to reinforce an idea. Consider your audience when using visuals.

4. Written: Writing messages such as short notes, sending uplifting cards can brighten someone's day.

5. Listening. Being attentive to what someone is saying. Making a conscious effort to show the speaker that you are focused on what he/she is saying.

6. Contextual: Bi-directional transfer of information where both parties are aware of the environment and cultural context of the exchange. Example: “Make sure you wear a coat tomorrow.” Both parties know that it is raining or will rain.

~Think It Over~

Focusing on the ills created by COVID-19 can generate considerable stress. However, making a conscious effort to seize the benefits and opportunities presented during these turbulent times, can strengthen bonds and relationships with family and friends.

Huntsville to Build New Transit Hub

Huntsville's bus and paratransit system will be getting a new public transit hub in 2023.

The City approved a contract with Fuqua & Partners Architects for design services of the station to be constructed near the intersection of Pratt Avenue and Church Street.

A $12.5 million Federal Transit Administration grant will cover 80% of the total cost, with the City of Huntsville providing a 20% match.

Quisha Bryant, director of Parking and Public Transit, said the new station will accomplish several goals, including providing a safer environment for transit customers. To enhance safety, the facility will have a perimeter security fence like those at train stations and airports. Other features will include an upgraded video surveillance system and tighter access restrictions to restrooms, waiting areas and the transfer platform.

The station will feature modern signage and real-time “next bus” technology, and the 45-foot station bays will be covered. There will also be separate waiting areas and customer amenities for Orbit and Greyhound passengers.

The new station will also accommodate ride-share services like Uber and Lyft as well as private pickups. An area for those vehicles, designed for easy entry and exit, will be just outside the ticketing office.

Huntsville will keep the existing station, but it will transition to a bus cleaning, fueling and service center. Other upgrades will include an expanded dispatch center, training room and updated employee areas.

Farewell, Colin Powell: The Last American Military Hero

"Now Naaman, captain of the host of the King of Syria, was a great man with his master, and honourable, because by him the Lord had given deliverance unto Syria; he was also a mighty man of valor, but he was a leper" 2 Kings 5:1.

In four ways Colin Powell paralleled Syrian army commander Naaman the Leper, as he was:

1. Victorious as the commander of America's last military victory, the 1991-92 Gulf War;

2. Favored by three U.S. presidents, for whom he served;

3. A man of color like Powell; and
4. In 2003, diagnosed with a deadly disease, prostate cancer.

Most importantly, both Naaman and Powell will be remembered historically as each about-faced from their traditional worldviews. These were their greatest victories.

About-face, Soldiers, . . .

2 Kings 5 records that Naaman about-faced from his traditional worship to wooden and stone Syrian gods, turned to the living God and was healed.

Similarly, Powell executed two about-faces:

- As a career soldier following Vice President Dick Cheney's script to pronounce weapons of mass destruction at the 2005 United Nations General Assembly, he later decried that misinformation as a "blot" on his legacy; and
- Touted in 1995 as the prospective GOP presidential challenger (and possible first Black U.S. president) to incumbent Bill Clinton, Powell about-faced in 2008 to endorse Democratic nominee Barack Obama who became the nation's first Black president!

Here, the 20th century trailblazer facilitated the 21st century trailblazer.

A Final, Fitting Salute?

As we recognize trailblazers and at the same time work to eliminate racist reminders of domestic treason by removing Confederate monuments and consider renaming military bases named for racist and treasonous Americans, wouldn't it be fitting to see for example Fort Benning, named for Confederate general and slaveholder Henry Benning, be renamed "Fort Colin Powell"?

If so, then that would be America's latest military victory for its last victorious military commander.

TVW Editor Elected Officer on Humanities Board

A revered and long-time Tennessee Valley educator, proprietor, newspaper publisher and consultant was elected as Secretary of the distinguished 26-member Alabama Humanities Alliance Board at its October 29 meeting.

Dr. Dorothy W. Huston is a retired higher education administrator, businessperson, workplace diversity and technology transfer consultant, and publisher of the popular online The Valley Weekly newspaper. She also is the founder/CEO of Technology Management Training Group, Inc., a HUBZone Defense contracting operation, as well as executive director of the Tennessee Valley Diversity Leadership Colloquium.

The Alabama Humanities Alliance is a Birmingham-based organization committed to bringing Alabamians together "to contextualize, amplify and strengthen" understanding and imagination of mutual destinies.

Huston, who joined the board in April on recommendation of Atty. Julian Butler of Huntsville, will bring to the group nearly 40 years of program management achieved from engagements with organizations and leadership teams formed throughout the country.

A native of Monroeville, Alabama, a wife and mother of three, Huston received the bachelor's degree from Alabama A&M University and master's and Ph.D. degrees from The Ohio State University. Huston is a 2006 graduate of Harvard's Executive Development Institute and is the recipient of hundreds of awards and distinctions.

Mercy and Miracles for Murmurers

Exodus 16:11-15

The promise of verse 12 is followed by these four words in verse 13; And it came to past. Those four words reveal the mercy of God. Mercy is defined as God not giving us what we deserve. The promise of provision should never have happened for the children of Israel because they were murmurers. What should have come to past was God punishing Israel for complaining, but instead He provided for them a forty-year supply of meat and bread that He sent like clockwork, quail in the evening and manna in the morning.

What a marvelous and matchless show of mercy! However, for God, that's a normal day at the office. The hymn writer put it this way, "Great is Thy Faithfulness... Morning by morning new mercies we see. All that I've needed Your Hand has provided..." Keeping in mind that this happened in the wilderness that God used as His classroom to teach His people how to live in The Promised Land, we are reminded of the pace and patience of God in His preparation process. This should serve as both encouragement and exhortation to move away from murmuring and traffic more in trust in the One who is merciful. His Manna is still being served every morning and Meat for the evening. We call it the Bible. What was true in Moses' day for God and His people, is still true today. He is still providing mercy and miracles for murmurers.

Rosetta James Foundation "Spotlight on Our Elders" ... Featuring

Evelyn Streeter Rich

For over 50 years, Mrs. Evelyn Streeter Rich committed her life to education and community causes and activities. She began her career as a classroom instructor, teaching and nurturing young children to develop an inquiring mind to become responsive and productive citizens.

Born in Thomasville, Ala., Rich was the youngest child of Robert Y. and Charyle Rose Streeter. Her elementary and secondary education was received at the area's public schools. After graduating as Salutatorian from Thomasville Public High School, she enrolled in Alabama A&M University and took advantage of all that the University had to offer.

During her undergraduate years at the University, she was actively involved in numerous extra-curricular activities designed to make her a well-rounded student. Some include: College Choir, Thespians, Future Teachers of America, and Gamma Mu Chapter, Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc.

In 1954, Rich received the B.S. degree with honors in elementary education from AAMU. In 1968, she received the Master of Arts degree in elementary education from the University of Alabama in Tuscaloosa, Ala.

During her professional career, she served as an elementary education classroom teacher at several schools in Alabama, namely, Thomasville Public High School, Thomasville, Ala.; the Thirty-Second Avenue Elementary School and Verner Elementary School in Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Meridianville Elementary School, Meridianville, Ala.; and Hazel Green Elementary School, Hazel Green, Ala. At the post-secondary level, she served as a demonstration teacher at the Summer Laboratory School, Alabama A&M College, Normal, Ala., and the University of Alabama's Children School, Verner Elementary School Campus, Tuscaloosa, Ala.

At an early age, Mrs. Rich was instilled with the values of providing community service to others. As a child, she delivered fruit and other needed items to the elderly and sick and shut-in with her grandmother. Her community service became marked with examples of leadership. She was actively affiliated with numerous civic, social and community organizations, including past president of Presbyterian Women.

A dedicated and loyal member of Fellowship Presbyterian Church, she served as is an elder, sang in the Chancel Choir and tutored students in the Fellowship After School Study and Tutorial Program (FASST).

For 10 years of the existence of Epsilon Gamma Omega Chapter, Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc., Reading Is Fundamental Project (AKA-RIF), Mrs. Rich served as chairperson. Under her leadership, the project won the Alabama Small-Site State Champion Award during the RIF Community Challenge, sponsored by the Met-Life Foundation and the National RIF Program, for three consecutive years.

In recognition of her contributions and service to the community, she received several notable awards.

Mrs. Rich was married to the late Dr. Earlie Rich, her college sweetheart.

"Spotlight on Our Elders" is a weekly feature sponsored by the Rosetta James Foundation to promote volunteerism and activism in our community among those who are 70-plus.
