Local Jack and Jill Chapter Hosts Swimming Fundraiser

On Saturday, December 14, the JJSwims Community Fundraiser took place at the Huntsville Aquatic Center.

The fundraiser was hosted by the Greater Huntsville Chapter of Jack and Jill of America, Inc. and was well supported by the community.

Swimmers for the event were Jack and Jill children, the Sea Dragons Swim Team members, and children from the community. To date, the chapter has raised $27,481 to fund swim lessons for underresourced children.

Many children are unfamiliar with swim safety and cannot swim; therefore, they are at high risk for swimming accidents and drowning. The proceeds from the fundraiser will be donated to organizations whose focus is to address the needs of underresourced children.

The recipients will be the Boys & Girls Club of North Alabama, Girls Inc., Sea Dragons Swim Team, Village of Promise, and Jack and Jill of America Foundation. The chapter is very grateful for the support of the community and would like to thank all of their donors -- individuals, businesses, state representatives, and other organizations. There is still time to support the chapter's fundraising efforts. Please use the link for more information:

Alabama HBCUs Have a Champion in Senator Jones

Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCUs) in Alabama are central to our culture, our economy and the future of our young people and our state. That's why it's so important that our schools get the funding they need to continue educating students and guiding them into the world with intelligence, respect and honesty.

As the President of Oakwood University, I know firsthand the joys and challenges of guiding students through higher education and into the next phase of their lives. Whether it's the first step on the path to higher learning or a student returning to school to expand their horizons, Oakwood University is home to students of many ages, backgrounds and beliefs who come to Oakwood to better themselves and their communities.

Since September 30, funding for HBCUs in Alabama and across the country has been uncertain since the Senate failed to renew $255 million in federal funding for these schools.

Fortunately, last week I received a personal call from our very own U.S. Senator Doug Jones that the Senate passed a bill that will permanently provide annual funding to Oakwood University and HBCUs across the country. This breakthrough legislation represents a huge relief for minority-serving schools across the country that rely on this federal funding to educate our students for the future.

Senator Jones' bill, the FUTURE Act, will ensure that the Title III program, which provides funding for Oakwood University, remains funded by Congress. Along with school funding, legislation was also approved that will simplify the FAFSA application for prospective college students. This fix will help streamline the federal aid application process for students and their families and help students get the aid they need to obtain a higher education and hopefully reduce their debt upon graduating. And the beneficiary of much of this work will be our state of Alabama's with its growing and diversified workforce.

HBCUs like Oakwood University are leaders in educating students of color and lifting up generations of underserved communities. I'm extremely proud that we have a champion in Senator Jones, who was able to engineer bipartisan support for minority-serving institutions in Alabama and across the country.

AAMU Observes 50th Anniversary of 'University' Designation

AAMU's 50th: Planners for Alabama A&M University's 50th Anniversary Banquet, honoring five decades of distinction as a "university," literally transformed the T.M. Elmore Building on Thursday, December 5.

"These are delightful and dangerous times," commented Dr. Michael Eric Dyson during his address at Alabama A&M University's 50th Anniversary Banquet, which observed the higher education institution's five decades of distinction as a "university." The event also celebrated the establishment of the Alabama A&M University Foundation.

A motivational academician, author, minister and radio host, Dyson hails from Detroit, Mich., but told the AAMU audience that his mother, Addie Mae Leonard, was an Alabamian. Dr. Dyson currently serves as a professor of sociology at Georgetown University in Washington, D.C., and he has authored numerous books on diverse subjects.

Dyson's presentation centered around the theme, "The United States of Amnesia." The professor said that America is addicted to forgetfulness while, paradoxically obsessed with history. A case in point, he offered, was the South's fixation with the Civil War and its key meaning to Southern heritage, while simultaneously holding the conviction that American slavery is something that African Americans should simply "get over."

The professor also stated that historically black colleges and universities (HBCUs) have an inherent duty to keep black history unobstructed and to counter the forgetfulness of the past.

"Either everybody will be free, or nobody will be free," he added. Dyson then challenged AAMU students to understand the greater goals of education, commending them on their role in revolutionizing this country.

Perspectives on EGO-holism

NOT In Memory of Kamala Harris (January 21, 2019 - December 3, 2019)

"He (Jesus) said, '... The girl is not dead but asleep.' But they laughed at him" Matthew 9:24 NIV.

Viewed by many as the brightest new star in the Democratic presidential candidates' galaxy, Senator Kamala Harris' Dec. 3rd withdrawal surprised many, but didn't shock a few.

"All Things to All Men," but . . .

Blessed with an overlapping "Obama-Hillary" newness combo - and hailing from vote-rich new Super Tuesday California, where she won three state-wide races - Harris' ethnically-mixed/HBCU's "Female Jackie Robinson"/interracially-espoused/prosecutorial autobiography sought to invoke the Apostle Paul's "become all things to all men" campaign stomp speech (1 Cor. 9:18-23).

Instead, she reminded folks of Jesus' closing appeal to the rich young ruler: "one thing though lackest, . . ." (Matt. 19:16).

A Mess without a Message

Multiple reports of campaign office mismanagement, personnel musical chairs and subsequent layoffs evidenced an historic run featuring both a premature messenger and a half-baked message.

As opposed to Kamala, Paul could make and support his earlier 1st Corinthian statement because he possessed an ironclad vision and message, or apolitical platform.

Her flip-flops on gun control, taxes, Medicare-for-all, teachers' salaries, equal pay and immigration, for example, eroded her credibility and subsequent poll rankings and early fundraising prowess.

America: Don't grieve - yet!

Sleep for now, 55-year old Kamala; we'll see you again shortly:

Perhaps wisely, as the Vice Presidential nominee - as the-once historically-diverse Dems' field is led currently by all whites, predominantly males and mostly septuagenarians! But perhaps even sooner, . . .

Tweeter-in-chief Trump, snarkily: "We will miss you Kamala." Harris' hit-back: "Don't worry, Mr. President. I'll see you at your trial."

DON'T WORRY, BE HAPPY

Matthew 6:26
says, *Look at the birds of the air;
they do not sow
or reap or store
away in barns, and
yet your heavenly
father feeds them.
Are you not much
more valuable than they?*

In the Sermon
on the Mount,
Jesus deals with
worry from a different perspective. He says, "Look at the birds."

God is always trying to get us to look at something other than ourselves. Remember, he told Abraham to come out of the tent and to look up at the sky and count the stars if indeed

he could count them. And,

He's saying to all of us,
Look at something other than your current circumstance.

He is saying, I am greater than all of these things that we tend to worry about. Jesus goes on to say, "Can any of you add anything to your life by worrying?" You see, we can work

on our problems,
and we can work
on our situation,
but we don't need
to worry about
it, because worry
doesn't work.
Always remember,
God wants us to consider Him as the solution to any problem that we have. So, instead of praying to God

about how big our problem is, we need to pray
about how big our God is, and He is very capable and can handle any problem that we have ... Stay encouraged, my brothers and sisters!

Called 2 Preach

by Pastor/Founder Michael D. Rice
Grace Gethsemane Mission Church

It's Pointless!

Matthew 7:3-5

This text occurred in the context of Jesus' teaching about judging others. The word judge is translated from a word that carries the meanings of to decide, to distinguish, determine, or decree. When Jesus said, "Judge not," it was an imperative, not a suggestion. He commanded that no one should ever come to a decision about a person where they are distinguished or determined or decreed as someone who is not deserving of God's grace. He made it analogous to "pointing out" a speck in someone else's eye while ignoring the beam in their own. My boyhood colloquial expression was, "When you point one finger at someone, you've got three pointing back at you." Jesus noted that when a person does this, they are literally setting themselves up to be judged as well; not by others, but by God. Since God is Omniscient, that means that He knows "everything" there is to know about everybody. Therefore, it's pointless for a human to come to an ultimate conclusion about some other human.

The word Jesus used to describe those who engage in this pointless activity, is hypocrite; used to describe a "stage-actor." This is what I call "thespian theology." In operas, sometimes the characters use masks over their faces to communicate their mood. Jesus is saying to all would-be judges, "Take off the masks and stop pretending to be someone who is perfect." When one recognizes how pointless judging others is, they will point less.

"Those who can make you believe absurdities can make you commit atrocities."

Spotlight on Our Elders ... Featuring

Mr. Albert Merrell Morris

Who says you can't mix business and family? Long-time local businessman and florist Albert Merrell Morris has served the Huntsville area for nearly 60 years. Straight out of college to his noble service in the Navy, Morris started working full-time at the business on Pulaski Pike, the first of four locations. His name was chosen for the retail store since "Albert" started with an "A". The business started with an initial investment of about $3,000 from the late Thomas Vivian Morris, a professor of botany and horticulture at Alabama A&M University, and his late wife Ruth Daniels Morris. Thomas earned several tree patents while a professor at AAMU. The wholesale greenhouses started in 1965 with brother Roland Morris as manager. The talented native of rural Eufaula, Ala., and AAMU horticulture graduate, joined his brother, sister-in-law and his five-year-old daughter (who put stamps on the envelopes with the bills in them) in launching a signature floral service in the Tennessee Valley. Albert's Flowers began in 1958 and today is thought to be the longest running floral business in Huntsville, Ala..

Almost everyone in the Morris extended family in Huntsville has at one time or another worked at the flower shop. Albert once said "I know what it takes to make business work." As the family's patriarch and business micro-manager, Morris is part Yuchi Indian. After his studies at AAMU, Morris lived and studied in Chicago at the Floral School of America, completing his course of study in 1957. Morris is married to

Zetas Remember Deceased Veterans at Area Cemeteries

The Huntsville Chapter of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Incorporated, Delta Omega Zeta Chapter, honored veterans at Glenwood Cemetery, located at 2400 Hall Avenue, Huntsville, Ala., on December 14.

This event coincided with Wreaths Across America at Arlington National Cemetery just outside the nation's Capital. For nearly a decade, Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Incorporated, the Delta Omega

Zeta Chapter, has honored deceased veterans by placing wreaths on their graves in Glenwood Cemetery, an African American Cemetery established in 1870 and listed on the Alabama State Registry of Cemeteries.

Recently, the project expanded to Northside and Brandontown Cemeteries.

"The experience is exhilarating and a privilege," said Velma Foster, a Life Member of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Incorporated.

rated. She and her husband James d foster, a Vietnam-era Army veteran, have participated in placing wreaths at the burial site of veterans for several years. This year, the couple placed 120 wreaths at Glenwood Cemetery.

Delta Omega Zeta Chapter members along with Joyce Parker, founder of Wreaths for Veterans in the Huntsville/Madison County area, purchased the wreaths and ribbons.

More than 500 wreaths were prepared by Mildred Fields, a member of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority for 50-plus years, and Lillie Stanford, also a member of the chapter.

The spirit of honoring deceased veterans who served to protect our freedom continues to bring many residents of the Huntsville community to brave the weather to call the name of a veteran, thank him/her, and place a Wreath of Honor.

Other contributors this year included members of The First Missionary Baptist Church, North Alabama Girl Scout Troops and Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Incorporated, the Beta Epsilon Sigma chapter.

Individuals who helped included Michael Smith, a member of the Normal Historic District Preservation Association; Elbert Drake, president of the Council Training Alumni Association; and George Miller. The Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Incorporated, Epsilon Gamma Omega Chapter's 62nd Prospective Debutantes also participated in the Laying of the Wreath Ceremony program.

Use Year-End Bonus (or Gift) Wisely

If you're getting a year-end bonus from your employer, or possibly a substantial cash gift for the holidays, how can you best use the money?

For starters, you could use it to pay down some debts. The lower your debt load, the more you'll have to invest for your future.

Also, you could start an emergency fund, with the money kept in a low-risk, liquid account. With such a fund in place, you can avoid dipping into long-term investments to pay for unexpected costs, such as a major car repair.

Here's another suggestion: Use your bonus or monetary gift to help fund your IRA for the 2019 tax year.

Or, you could use the money to help fund a college savings account, such as a 529 plan, for your children or grandchildren. A 529 plan offers possible tax benefits and allows you to control the money until it's used.

To achieve all your financial goals, you'll need to take advantage of your opportunities – and your year-end bonus or monetary gift can certainly be one of them.
